The Freedom of CoBrA

The exhibition CoBrA, the first major European avant-garde movement to emerge following world war two, will run from December 4th. One hundred and fifty works will be on display to represent the synthesis of freedom, boldness, strength, and the power of color and spontaneity of art form typical of the production of the CoBrA movement, characterized by spontaneity and experiment and considered a catalyst for European Abstract Expressionism. Included are paintings, sculptures, works on paper, publications, photos and videos in the CoBrA movement - an acronym formed from the initials founding cities Copenhagen, Brussels, Amsterdam.
